UTAH STAR

SHINES FORTH arrayed in purest white, and all wearing white hats. A most beautiful sight they presented as they took their places about the throne; Governor Wells, in a dress suit, his staft, in all the courtesies and accommodations af-forded.

(Continued from page 1.)

THE WILD WEST SHOW.

Initial Performance Yesterday Aftermoon Not Altogether Satisfac-

The wild west show at the exposition grounds was unsatisfactory. It was decidedly and emphatically unsatisfac-

Owing to numerous delays and fallures to make connection, the principal actors programmed for the opening day entertainment were unable to be present and Captain Paul was forced to go ahead with such talent as he was able to pick up at short notice.

ARIZONA CHARLEY

Twency-five hundred people gathered to see the cowboy show. It was a good natured crowd bent upon a good time and it is questionable whether they found less enjoyment in the ludicrous and bungling entertainment presented as a makeshift than they would have found in the genuine, bona fide wild west show which the management hoped to be able to give on time and according to programme.

ment hoped to be able to give on time and according to programme.

At 2:30, on the dot, Captain Adam Paul, who is in charge of the wild west exhibitions, rode up in front of the big audience and explained the crippled condition in which the management found itself. He apneunced that, to make the best of a bad job he would put on a few volunteer cowboys and give the audience the best possible exhibition of wild horse inauditing that was possible under the circumstances. To this end he introduced the Morgan brothers, a couple of rough riders from the rural districts who essayed, one on foot and the other on horseback, to lasso, saddle and ride wild horses in quick time. in quick time.

The game was on before the assemblage knew it. A herd of wild horses was scampering across the enclosure hotly pursued by the Morgan brothers. rope in hand and evidently bent upon bringing the fugilive equines to earth or knowing the reason why. Cast after cast was made by rider and tootman with no result, other than the arcusing with no result, other than the arcusing of the merriment of the spectators. The wild and vooly rope slingers were guyed unmercifully, cridently much to their disconfiture. The herd, finally snorting a paring defiance to their pursuers, broke through the enclosure and took to the stables where one of them was, in the course of time, run into a corner, roped and led forth to be ridden. Just as the crowd was on the tip toe of expectancy, waiting to see the flery and untained steed mounted and ridden by the fearless denizen of the plain, the captured animal was not qualified to give a desirable exhibition another would be substituted in his place. Another half hour was expended in a vain attempt to take another equine prisoner. Finally an outside cowboy in an Indian make-up. was expended in a vair actempt to take another equine prisoner. Finally an outside cowboy in an Indian make-up, jumped into the breuch, lassed one of the horses and turned him over to the "rough riders." Fully twenty minutes were consumed in sadding and bridling the belligerent steed. When it was at last saddled to suit the exacting taste of the Mr. Morgan who was to ride him, a school girl might have bestrode and ridden him in a Fourth of July parade. He had scarcely enough strength left to stand on his feet when the dare-devil cow number mounted his weary and swaying back. The hapless brute was rowelled and quinted about the enclosure until the audience sport and there the exhibition of horse-manship ended.

At this juncture Charlie Meadows, ("Arisona Charlie") arrived at the grounds and was introduced to the audience by Chalman Rognon, of the Carnival executive committee. Mr. Rognon stated that, owing to the late arrival of Mr. Meadows he would not participate in the day's events, but that he would be ready today to give the public a cowby show that will be worth looking at. From the record Mr. Meadows has made throughout two continents he ought to be easily able to make this promise good. He is a rifle shot with few equals and a horseman whose fancy work has never been man whose fancy work has never been excelled in this or any other country. Meadows will positively appear today with an entirely new change of pro-

After the presentation of the cow-boy star, the stage robbery act was given. It was a fairly realistic repre-sentation of the early-day hild-ups and went a long way toward making amends for the previous failures.

By tomorrow arrangements will have been rerrected which will guarantee to the public an exhibition which will be worth the time to winess. Mr. Meadows will introduce his fancy shooting and rough riding act and there will be other features of excel-

THE CROWNING EVENT.

The Grand Concert at the Taber nacle Last Evening.

scene at the tabernacle in the

Jean was preceded by Director Mc-Garvie and Colonei Newman, and fol-lowed by sixteen maids of honor, all arrayed in purest white, and all wearunavoidable tardiness of her majesty, the crowd swelled and one by one ad-ditional cars were coupled on until by 2:15, when the royal party arrived and was ushered into Superintendent Joe Young's private car, and the train inally pulled out, it was as big as the engine could pull. It was so big in fact that when the incoming train was met the gorgeous panoply of dress parade, had a front bench, one that, unfortunally, was not elevated, and the losts who paid to see Colonels Clayton, Burton and Cannon in their new uniforms, went away disappointed. Three calcium lights were thrown on the queen and made Judge Colborn blink, somewhat confusedly, but the gueen at the half way siding there was less than 2 foot of room to spare as the incoming one bulled by the outgoing

On the trip to the beach, Queen Jean on the trip to the beach, Queen Jean and her court were accompanied by the indispensible prime minister, Judge Coiborn, Director-General McGarwie, S. V. Shelp and Will Clawson of the committee. The party was driven to the depot in carriages, where it was greeted by the Indian band and to the time of a tuneful march the covaling. calcium lights were thrown on the queen and made Judge Colborn blinks somewhat confusedly, but the queen looked as though calciums were one of the things to which she was cally accustomed, and "the fierce light that beat upon her throne" did not in the least disconcert her. When the queen was finally seated the big chorus sang "Hail to the Queen of the Carnival." a tune from some opera; then came the band contest, for which only the unique band of Indian boys from Grand Junction and Held's band of this city, entered. Musically, of course, it was all Held's way, but it was very evident from the applause that the sympathy of the audience was with the dusky skinned musicians; so it proved when the ballots collected from the audience and counted while the programme went on, showed 1.194 votes favoring the Indians and 47 for the white boys. The former, therefore, carry off the prize of $100 cash, and the scales of Mr. Held's boys besides.

Then came spectacle number two. The chorus sang "America" (to which, by the way, only the governor and his staff stood up, instead of the whole audience, as it should have done) and at the close, the flag which covered the front of the organ was drawn, disclosing Miss Peart as "Utah." Strikingly beautiful she looked, arrayed all in white, with a silver star blazing on her forehead, and the audience, chorus, and Queen Jean herself arose in tribute to her; the apphase she received, was not second to that given the entrance greeced by the Indian band and to the time of a tuneful march the royalty passed regally down an avenue form-ed by the admiring crowd beneath the shade of the row of trees which bor-ders the platform. In a few moments they were safely aboard and the start made, the band playing a lively air as the train pulled out.

No incident of importance marked the journey to the beach, which, when reached, soon presented an animated appearance. The great number of peo-ple fied rapidly from the cars. Eager to witness every move of the royal cor-tege, which was soon formed and pre-sented by the beat the ceded by the band, the march to the pavilion was commenced. The kodak fiend was fairly omnipresent, but though he strove with a will to get a shot at Queen Jean and her escort. It was in vain, for the crowds were too great and had too little respect for his mania to enable him to get a clear view of the proces-

Arrived at the payllion, seats for her Arrived at the payllion, seats for her majesty and suite were arranged at the east end, the state queen and her prime minister occupying the center, while the county queens were ranged on each side. No sovereign, in fact, with all the rulers of her dependencies, could have been shown greater respect or have more committeely silled her. or have more completely filled her subjects with awe than did Queen Jean subjects with awe than did Queen Jean the remainder of the afternoon, and though her majesty did not unbend her dignity sufficiently to join in the merry waitz which continued through-

RALLOON ASCENSION

BALLOON ASCENSION.

At the conclusion of the road race, Professor Harris made ready for a journey into space in a hot air bailoon and in short order it began to look as though a very pretty spectacle would be witnessed. The big bag filled out rapidly and stood aloft in graceful lines and the crowd was waiting to see it float away with the intrepld aeronaut when the man tending the furnace threw in an overdose of coal oil which caused the flames to shoot up into the bailoon. It was not ready to go but to save the canvass the professor order it released and it floated up into the air but not in time. The canvass was on fire and a big hole was burnt in it before the cool air was canvass was on fire and a big hole was burnt in it before the cool air was reached which extinguished the flames. Needless to say Professor Harris did not go up but the balloon rose to a good height nevertheless, and barring the danger of seeing someone dashed to pleces, the crowd saw an ordinarily good balloon ascension. When the balloon began to decend the parachute opened out and together they settled slowly down past one of the peaks to opened out and together they settled slowly down past one of the peaks to the west of the beach but so close that the aeronaut might have had an ba-pleasant experience had he been more successful in his intention to edify the

HER MAJESTY RETURNS.

At 6 o'clock Queen Jean and the other members of the royal party were dired in the cafe and at 6:30 the return journey was commenced The hourly train service was con-tinued up to ii o'clock and a large number of people spent the evening at the beach.

PULLED THE AIR VALVE. General Superintendent Bancroft, of the Union Pacific, and Division Super-intendent Young when seen last even-ing relative to the failure of the ob-servation train to keep up with the second; F. L. Hart, third; W. E. Howarth, fourth; Jesse Sinclair, fifth; T. M. Samuelson, sixth; Morley Hassard, seventh; O. E. Emery, eighth, and A. W. Beam, ninth. The first time prize was won by Morley Hassard and second by O. E. Emery. The novice time prize was won by Ed M. East. The prize was won by Ed M. East. The best time was calculated at between 23 and 30 minutes. ledged the salutes of her loyal subjects by graciously bowing her queenly head. After the parade she was presented with the golden key to the city. Then stepping into a carriage that was in waiting she was whirled away to assist in other festivities.

ABLAZE WITH LIGHT.

The City Presented a Splendid Appearance Last Night. The city presented a pleasing appearance last night, when all had finished

The city presented a pleasing appearance last night, when all had finished their respective meals and come up town again to look at what was going on after dark. The many colored lights which were used in the decorations, augmented by the extra arc lights which were hung along the principal streets, gave the city a spendid filumination, in fact it was almost as bright as noonday.

Prior to the opening of the concert at the tabernacie the many bands in the city visited various points of interest and played serenades, the Knutsford being the principal corner. All the bands gave selections there and as a result the throng was the heaviest at that place. Besides, the queen was there and all those who had not seen her wanted to catch a glimpse as she left with her escort.

Those who did not attend the concert walked around the city, some visiting the various places of amusement, which did a good business, and so the matter went until after the tabernacie exercises had ended when the street cars were liberally patronized by those who wanted to get nome early in order to be up in time to take in the carnival today.

There was but one element which marred by its presence the pleasure of the populace and that was the "yap," who was present, in limited numbers of course, but he made himself feit in more ways than one. He talked loud and used profamity liberally. A good portion of the self-appointed duty which he performed, was use jossing of hales which he entered into with a grace and unction worthy of a better cause. Of course there was a liberality shown by the police yeaterday in the matter of infractions of law of a minor character, but if the "yap" pursues his course today, as he did yesterday in the matter of infractions of law of a minor character, but if the "yap" pursues his course today, as he did yesterday in the matter of infractions of law of a minor character, but if the "yap" pursues his course today, as he did yesterday being on shirt fifteen hours. Most of the boys were very tired when they left for the department's duty was performed faithfully and well.

Today the ordinance against fast driving across street intersections and cross walks will be enforced with vigor. There are too many people in the city to permit of anything of the sort being indulged in. The little children and ladies are the ones who are liable to suffer if the practice is continued and the police department wishes it understood that the ordinance must be lived up to in every deful.

TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

Morning Parade and Ball at Saltair in the Evening.

Following is the line of march for the parade this morning:

Down East Temple from the temple block to Fourth South, thence east to State street and around the joint city and county building, thence north on State to Second South, thence west to West Temple where the general dispersion occurs.

dispersion occurs.

The complete programme is as fol-FIRST DIVISION.

Children's bleycle parade. Plateon of police, Chief Pratt in command Grand Marshal Henry J. Newman Sixteenth United States infantry

Committee on school children's day Troop C. (U. N. G.) acting as escort to the floral queen, who will be seated on the float representing the state flower, the sego illy.

SECOND DIVISION.
F. A. Grant, Chief of Division.
The Denhalter band.
Living flag float, representing the national flag and participated in by school children dressed in the national olors, Boy's brigade. Raymond coach filled with school

The crescent float. THIRD DIVISION. William Rollo Grant, chief of divi-Held's band. Boys and girls carrying the national

Merchant's floats. FOURTH DIVISION. H. P. G. Coates, chief of division. Indian band from Grand Junction, Adult bicycle brigade-John T. Axton in command.

Basket float, representing the flowers of Utah, and containing twenty-one school children, each representing a

Citizens and children in carriages. FIFTH DIVISION. William Dinwoodey, chief of division.

Ogden band. Float, "1896." Merchant's floats. Prominent citizens in carriages.

SIXTH DIVISION. J. H. Griffin, chief of division. Drum corps. Floats. Societies, etc. PROGRAMME.

Review by the queen of the floral and children's parades from the throne at the city and county building.

Award of prizes for the best floral decorations in the parade.

Chorus of 1,000 children, under the direction of Professor Bassett.

Patrictic songs, by 5,000 school children Recitation, "The American Flag," by ohn P. Meakin.

AFTERNOON PROGRAMME. Her majesty the queen, visits Saltair, accompanied by her maids of honor. War dance by Bannock braves and music by Indian band.
Cowboy tournament at the exposition grounds at 2:30 o'clock.

EVENING PROGRAMME.

EVENING PROGRAMME.

Grand mask ball, in honor of the queen, at Saltair. The Indian band, Ogden band and Sixteenth Infantry band in attendance.

Masks can be purchased at Saltair. During the intermission the "Highland Filing" and "Sword Dance" will be danced before the queen, by Master and Miss Moffat.

Floor committee—C. E. Stanton.

committee-C. E. Stanton,

Awarded Highest Honors-World's Fair, ·DR

MOST PERFECT MADE. A pure Grape Cream of Tertar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant, 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

chairman; George D. Loomis, H. T. Duke, Clarence McCornick, S. H. Fields, John H. Hughes, Ernest Brockbank, Seve H. Lynch, James G. Mayer, Joshua F. Grant, E. G. Ivins, M. J. Cheeseman, E. H. Scott, John D. Spencer, D. C. Adams, Benner X. Smith, W. H. Donnell, Theo. Davis, John N. Sharp, Max Hanauer, John P. Meakin, Walter T. Gunter, Alma Katz, Sidney K. Hooper.

Carnival Notes.

The city is a dream. Grant's float was a hummer. The Carnival Queen is stately and beautiful. The tribunes were a living mass of humanity.

The temple has not been lighted at all is yet. What is the matter? In the gorgeous red window at Walker Bros. is the sign "any color so it's red." The White house has the sign "White Meial, White House, Walte Treatment, The Saltair people in the Nauvoo block have one of the handsomest decorations in the city.

Stars seem to be the favorite design in decorating the city, rivaling the heav-ens in the display. A bevy of lovely girls occupied the windows of the T. R. Jones bank while the procession passed.

the procession passed.

The man-of-war suspended in mid air in front of MgDonalo's candy store attracted no little attention.

There have been tailer men than Judge Coiborn, but mone with more patrician features, and ministerial bearing.

"Ide (titers)" were seen on State street where they had been erected for the multitude who preferred to stand.

The Indian band got a great deal of applause, and were on the atreets again in the evening playing martial music.

The Midway Plaisance sinks into insignificance before such a kaledozope of wonders is filled the streets yesterday.

It was remarked that the indian on the

It was remarked that the Indian on the 47 float either had nine lives like our reline friends, or else he was loaded when he got home. Rob Thompson was a stunner in his owing costume. One would think that te had been sent by balloon from Bedouin desert.

A bewildering array of pretty girls and chaperones carrying a rainbow of aliken parasols watched the parade from the Knutsford balcony.

Knutsford balcony.

William Burke looking at Knutsford register: "Jean, Queen of the Carmyal, and her maids of honor, pariors A and B. Say, give me parior C."

The decorations of Ackerman & Co, the printers, are very preffy, long streamers crossing from the building to the old clock on the corner.

Sy Plumkett was on Main street last night trying to penetrate an opening in the crowd. "Say, Sal, let's stand on this stoop till the procession passes."

Uncle Nat Daniels, from Leadville, stopping at the Callen, has been invited to rise on the miners' float today. He is one of the oldest miners in the state.

Kopp and McDonald vied with each

Kopp and McDonald vied with each other in throwing "sweets to the sweet," throughout the length of the procession. throughout the length of the procession. Schooler Jim made up the seventh division. It was the crowning point in his singular existence and it is needless to say that he and his buttons created a sensation.

sensation.

There will be a match swimming race at Saltair at 5 p, m, today between George W. Kellogg, of Glenwood, Colo., and James Latham, of this city. The purse is $50.

purse is $50.

The Citizens Electric Light company have done themselves proud. Last evening they spread to the breeze a beautiful flag made of myriads of tri-colored lights which could be seen for miles. It was famb shearing time at "the Sheep Ranch" last night, and innumerable innocents contributed to the clip. Most of them were black sheep, but this did not cut any ice with the shearers. did not cut any never black sneep, dut his did not cut any ice with the shearers. The very leading society people have signified their intention of appearing on the streets en masque Saturday night. It's a sure go and those who are not masqued will be decidedly out of it. Those who think that "the leopard cannot change his spots or the Ethiopian his skin," might have been treated to an optical illusion had they seen the animals of Spencer & Lynch after the parade. Her majesty, Judge Colborn, Henry Newman, and the county queens escorted by the Ogden and Held's bands, were driven through the principal streets last evening, receiving ovations on every side. Browning Brothers' fire cracker is a big feature. It is fifteen feet long and four feet in diameter. They mean to light it during the height of the gayeties Sasurany night. Their entire display is all right.

all right.

Main street was ablaze with thousands of lights last night, red, white and blue predominating. They glittered and blazed from every nook and corner, spreading a beauteous canopy of dazzling lights over the merry scene.

An invisible Hermann with a magic through the car to respond, but he wand in one hand and a cornucopia in the variety of the recovered his self-composure sufficiently to leave the car a self-distance the head of Main street and shook out one of the handsomest parades ever seen in the land of sego lilies and snowy ord.

peaks.

Masks and costomes are at a premium, and the streets will be filled by revelers. Kings and tramps, queens and Jacks, gnomes and fairies, knights and ladies, clowns, farmers, elins, dancing girls and all the mad, say, dashing throng of careliess fun-seekers.

WHEN OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that fired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts lifeand energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Hood's Pills to operate. 20 cents.

Duchess of Kent and the Princess Vic-Duchess of Kent and the Princess Vic-toria—a girl of fifteen and helr of the throne—came in first on the side oppo-site the king's box. The audience ap-pleuded somewhat, not ferociously. The princess is a nice fresh looking sirl, blomde and rather prestly. The king looks like a retired butcher. The queen is much such a person in aspect as the wife of the late William Frost, of Cam-bridge, an exemplary milkman, now wife of the late William Frost, of Cambridge, an exemplary milkman, now probably immortal on a slab of sintestone as a father, a husband, and a brother. The king blew his nose twice and wheel the royal perspiration repeatedly from a face which is northably the largest uncivilized spot in England. * * I have a disposition to tartness and levity which tests to the disadvantage of the royal living and the plebelan defunct, but it is accidental and must be forgiven.—From Life and Letters of Oliver Wendell Holmes. Holmes.

THE MASHER'S MISTAKE. He Gave His Signals to the Wrong Party This Time.

It was an amusing case of the biter bit that took place on a Walnut street car last evening. A number of passengers were standing, among them being two young men, who faced a very pretty girl comfortably seated at their elbows. One of the young men was attracted by the pretty face and was apparently soon determined upon a campaign of conquest. As he could not attract her attention in any other manner he evidently resolved to do it by touching her toe with his foot. To his delight the touch of his shoe was returned with a light tap, and for two blocks he kept up this novel form of flirtation

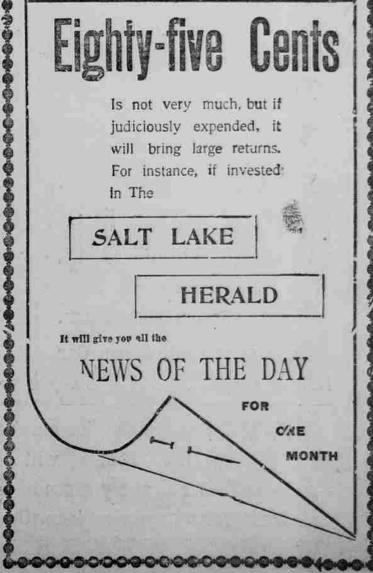

Finally the girl rose to get off, and the young man who had not previously figured in the matter, who proved to be the pretty damsel's escort, turned to follow her. of lights last night, red, white and blue or lights last night, red, white and blue or lights last night, red, white and blue or lights last night, red, white and blazed to follow her from the car. "See hers, from every nook and corner, spreading a you blanked idlot," he remarked to the beauteous canepy of dazzling lights over the merry scene.

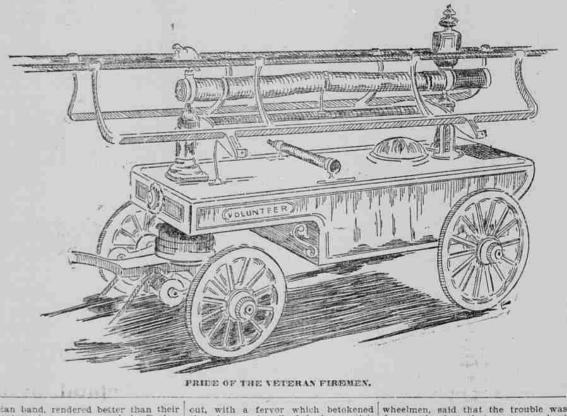

Wheelmen who expect to participate in the parade this morning are requested to meet on Richards street at 10:20 a. m. Flags for decoration will be furnished free upon application to L. C. Dale at the Y. M. C. A., or at the Continental market.

An invisible Hermann with a magic wand in one hand and a cornuccepia in the corner to respond, but he recovered his self-composure sufficiently to leave the car a safe distance.

THE SIZE OF THE MOON.

The moon is a comparatively small world yet, although three of Jupiter's and one of Saturn's moons are much larger. It is, in proportion to its primary, the largest satellite of the solar system. Its diameter is twenty-one hundred and sixty miles, which I had to give more than 12 for a pit ticket and had hardly room to stand up, almost crowded to death. The dies' Home Journal.

dian band, rendered better than their contest piece, an organ solo by Profes-sor Daynes, an excellently rendered number by the Ogden brass band, and the Soldiers' chorus from Faust con-ciuded the programme. Then the three bands, Helu's the Indians, and Ogden combined and played "Hail Columbia" while the queen and her maids march-ed up the aisle and out of the building A pleasant feature of the evening and Queen Jean herself arose in tribute to her; the apphase she received, was not second to that given the entrance of the queen. Then the chorus burst into "Utah, We Love Thee," at which there was more applicate, and that part of the programme concluded with "The Star Spangled Eanner" sung by the chorus and audience under Stephens direction. A selection by the in-

A pleasant feature of the evening was the appearance on the plantform of J. Wash Young, of the executive committee, who first handed the queen tiffe insurance policy for $1,000 issued by the Sun of Canada, with the compliments of the company, and next presented Director McGarvie with a gold watch, with the compliments of the complements of the complemen the committee. That gentleman made fitting response. Half an hour after the audience was out, intense excitement was created on the southwest corner of the taberon the southwest earlier of the taper-nacie block through the Grant Soap company's fine float tak-ing fire. A big blaze was made, the fire department turned out and the ru-mor spread like wildfire that the tab-ernacie was aftre. Fortunately the ernacie was afire. Fortunately blaze was speedily extinguished.

AT GARFIELD BEACH.

A Big Crowd at the Old Resort Yesterday.

The day at Gardeld Beach was probably the biggest the pioneer resort ever had or if it was not it was away up near the top notch, among the great events that have transpired there. Not many less than 5,000 people went out and spent at least a part of the day but of course the greater number by but of course the greater number by far, paid their respects to the old favorite during the afternoon, while the amusements were in progress and while Queen Jean lent her royal presence to the occasion. Two or three slight hitches in the programme occurred, but they were not of a nature to mar the enjoyment of the day.

What if the balloon did go up without the aeronaut, the spectators were saved what might in all probability have proven an unpleasant sight, for the balloon came down on the lagged rocks a. I the daring aeronaut might have been badly mangled had he been with it. Then too, what if the observation train did fail to keep up with the riders in the road races, very few people cared a rap for none were everly interested in the finish except the riders, who were interested in the prizes, and the inders who were unable to The scene at the tabernacle in the ers, who were interested in the prizes, evening made the crowning event of and the judges who were unable to the pleasure it afforded the partici-pants, numbers of the lesser queens took the arm of a gallant and indulged with a zest which carried their blue blood to their cheeks in a crimson glow that left very little of a suspicion that it had ever been any other hue. Dur-ing it all her majesty looked admiringly on, giving occasional nods of approval, which sentiment was straightproval, which sentiment was straight-way conveyed to the assemblage by the prime minister. Queen Jean's ap-preciation of the good time her sub-jects were having was so much in evidence that it was suspected she would have dispensed with dignity long enough to have had just one dance, had it not been that her train was too unwieldy.

At 4 o'clock, and when the merriment was at its height, Charley Stanton stepped to the center of the floor and announced that special courier from the queen had arrived bearing a message from her royal highness to her subjects, the import of which the queen's minister would make konwn to the people. Prime Minister Colhorn arose and was greeted by a round of applause. He then said: "I am di-rected to state that among the presen-tations that have been made to her majesty, Queen Jean is a wheel offered to the successful contestant for the honor of reigning queen of the carni-val. Her gracious majesty being solicitous for the weifare of all her sub-jects, and wishing to amellorate mis-fortunes, desires me to say that she will donate the wheel to be disposed of by chance, and the proceeds to go to the Qrihan's Home. Her majesty's benevoient act of grace was given a tumultous expression of approval and the dance went on. There was no further interruption of the merry-making, which continued till nightfall. Meanwhile some tiring of the exerlicitous for the welfare of all her sub-Meanwhile, some tiring of the exer-tion of dancing, took to the water or amused themselves in various ways.

THE ROAD RACE. At about 5 o'clock a shout of "here they come" gave notice that the riders in the road race were near at hand and those interested in cycling flocked to the station platform to see the riders pass. There were five of them bunched in front who went by with a flash while the reat of the starters straggled along at various distances. That was about all there was to be seen of the race from the beach but it was sufficient to show that some hard riding was being done.

The rare started nine miles this side of the resort and being for ten miles, carried the riders a mile beyond due to the fact that some one kept pulling one of the "conductor's air valves," one of which there is in every car. This set the air brakes and kept the engineer constantly releasing them. It is supposed some verdant sightseer found something nice to experiment with in the valve, or that someone with malicious intent did the work.

THE QUEEN'S BALL.

A Magnificent Spectacle Will be Presented at Saltair Tonight. At Saltair yesterday the workmen were all bustle, decorating the m were all bustle, decorating the main-moth pavilion for the reception of the queen and her court this evening. The grand musque ball promises to be the event of the carnival week and the costumes will surpass all previous efforts in splendor. The comfort of the dancers and the general management of the ball is un-der the direction of Major V. M. Silva and a corps of able assistants; with such a manager nothing but success can follow. can follow.

It is expected that fully five thousand maskers will be on the floor, and in Addition to the Salt Lake public thousands of visitors will go out to see

The society people who are preparing The society people who are preparing for the street masquerade will be in attendance to get pointers on costumes. It is said the queen will not masque, but will watch the gay revelers from a raised platform, surrounded by her

A PRESENTATION.

Director-General McGarvie Gets :

Fine Gold Watch. gold watch presented to Director The gold watch presented to Director General McGarvie at the tabernacie last night is a very handsome affair. The presentation was made by J. Wash Young, of the executive committee, and the time piece bears this inscription: "Presented to H. F. McGarvice, director-general of the Mid-cummer Carnival, by his many friends, at the tabernacle, Sait Lake city, July 2, 1886."

QUEEN JEAN. A Woman's Impression of the Scene at the Throne.

The sun shone brightly over the hundreds that had assembled to witness the carnival procession yesterday morning. The streets showed life and animation hours before the time set for the parade. Many hundreds stood around Main street admiring the artistic taste displayed in the decoration of the buildings, while others went immediately down State street to view the thouse which was to hold the interested in the finish except the riders are the crowning event of a great day. It is safe to say that 2,500 people paid admission to the big sadditorium, which was gorgeously in the meant of the meant of the part of the